GENERAL NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

The N. Y. Times on Alaska.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—The Times editorially says on Alaska There exists the anomaly of a community, over which floats the American flag, but destitute of even a shadow of a it. What is a government by a collector of customs? There is neither law nor precedent for such a legal fiction, and there is in Alaska nothing more formidable than an inspector or two to enforce the authority of the officers supposed to represent the government. It was a great mistake to withdraw the handful of troops left in Alaska. The people of the United States do not take kindly to military. We have given over Alaska to absolute anarchy. It may be not worth while to organize a territorial government for Alaska, and no form of civil government short of that would be possible. But if Alaska is not to be abandoned to primitive barbarians and devastation the authority of the United States must be maintained.

Talmage on Church Trial.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—The Brooklyn presbytery to-day adopted a resolution instructing the committee that if they find common fame against Dr. Talmage fulfills all conditions of requirements of the book of discipline, they shall formulate such common fame into a charge with specifications and names of witnesses to support them and submit the same to the presbytery.

Political Prosecution.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—The excise board was indicted by the grand jury for granting licenses to improper persons.

Hayes and the Chinese Bill.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—A Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial says that there is little chance of the president vetoing the Chinese bill. He has repeatedly expressed himself favorable to the restriction of Chinese immigration. Secretary Evarts, however, opposes summary repudiation of treaty obligations, and will do all he can to induce the president to veto it.

Chandler to the Front as Expected.

DETROIT, Feb. 18.—Zach. Chandler was elected U. S. senator by 83 to 40.

For Australia.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—The bark Clara leaves for Australia to-morrow with a full load of sewing machines, express wagons, organs, household furniture, pumps, clocks, stoves and cutlery.

The Matter of Climate.

Dr. Coon, in an able scientific magazine article on climates for invalids, assigns Southern California the first place among American localities, and San Diego the fifth place in the list of climates of the world favorable for consumptives.

The Restriction Bill Condemned.

HARTFORD, Feb. 18.—The house to-day unanimously adopted a resolution declaring that the proposed law restricting Chinese immigration is in flagrant violation of a sacred and honorable treaty, and wholly inconsistent with the principles and traditions of our republic and with the broad principles of human freedom, and it is the earnest hope that its provisions may never disgrace our national statutes.

China's Ocean Power.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 18.—The Commercial Bulletin here gives on authority of a gentleman fifteen years a resident of China, who traveled wherever foreigners are allowed, the following: There are two establishments belonging to the Chinese government in which ship building of modern pattern is successfully carried on. There is an arsenal at Foochow and another just above Shanghae, both superintended by Frenchmen, who amply provide them everything for the production of ships and implements of war. At first a large number of foreign artisans were employed, but these were gradually supplanted by natives, and at last accounts, out of 1,500 workmen employed there were not more than thirty foreigners. At these arsenals have been built ferryboats, revenue cruisers, dispatch boats, and sloops-of-war ranging from 100 to 1,000 tons register, some of them beautiful specimens of naval architecture, and in every sense of the word fitted with all the latest improvements of machinery. Some of the larger class are intended for the navigation of the China sea, where as tempestuous weather prevails as is encountered in any quarter of the globe. The Chinese government, in fact, now have steamers in every respect fitted to undertake the longest voyages and to attain very high speed, and also provided with the latest improved armaments. There is no lack of trained seamen. There are two training ships at each of the above arsenals, on which two hundred Chinese youths are being converted into sailors. Many are quite advanced, and several classes have graduated and are now employed as under officers in vessels. Several of the "Merchants' line" now running have lately been put under Chinese captains. The Chinese know what marine insurance is and are not dependent upon western underwriters for reaping the advantage of the system. Two such companies are existing, one at Hongkong and the other at Shanghae. Both are well managed and doing a prosperous business. The Bulletin thinks that facts like these, unknown to the average congressman, will impress the great body of the American people whose good sense will duly vindicate itself, and politicians with the cheap labor cry will be ashamed of their record.

Death of a Famous Soldier.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Feb. 18.—R. H. Carlton, adjutant-general of Gen. Lee, fell dead at his desk to-day, aged over 60 years. He was a graduate of West Point from Virginia, promoted to major in the Mexican war and was paymaster in Texas before the war.

Fatal Railroad Disaster.

A railroad disaster occurred near Selma to-day. A passenger train from there on the Selma, Rome & Dalton road fell through a rotten bridge over Mulberry creek. One white man named Geo. Evans, and four negroes were killed. Supt. Stanton and Conductor White were fatally injured and ten or twelve persons severely hurt. The train is a complete wreck.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Confirmation.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—The senate has confirmed Allen as U. S. attorney for Washington territory.

The Potter Investigation.

Before the Potter committee John F. Coyle testified that he went to Florida during the election of 1876 upon the request of Pelton. Edward Cooper gave him instructions and also a cipher key. He was to send his dispatches to Henry Havemeyer, and his instructions were to go to Florida and aid the Democrats there in obtaining all the evidence required to secure a truthful count, and to defray any expense requisite for the purpose, and to aid them in any way he could. He was authorized to employ money, limited in amount by his own discretion. He expended and authorized the expenditure of pretty nearly $10,000, obtained through drafts on Cooper. No. 23 of the cipher meant "Edward Cooper," vide dispatch "I have drawn on 23 for so and so." Witness had destroyed his key. The Tribune published a dispatch in which he was made to say, "Only cash will avail." This had never been sent by him.

Reed—State details of the $200,000 proposition made you? A. It was made me by Alexander Their, a gentleman to whom Hewitt introduced me before I left Washington. He said to me that the returning board could be bought for $200,000.

Q. Do you know if Gov. Tilden knew anything of these dispatches? A. Well, my knowledge of Gov. Tilden and of the affairs of the canvass would make me positive that he did not. I never knew Marble to be consulted about the business in any possible way. Marble seemed to be visiting Cowgill and McLin, members of the returning board, without any special instructions from anybody.

Rejected.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—The proposition to tax coffee 2½ cents a pound was rejected by the senate.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—The amendment to tax tea ten cents per pound was rejected—yeas, 4, nays, 57.

Nomination.

The president has nominated Wm. Garvey of Ohio, Indian agent for the Nevada agency.

The South Carolina Vote.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—The Potter committee met to day and resumed examination of Thos. G. Dunn of the South Carolina returning board. He said that Solomon represented there was the agent of Tilden in Columbia (Smith Weed) for the purpose of using money if needed to secure the electoral vote. Don't think it was possible to count in Chamberlain and Tilden, though it was impossible to say what that count might do. Solomon wanted the board to certify as the court directed. He never named a price when he came first. He said he was authorized to use $100,000 if necessary.

The Loan.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Subscriptions to the four per cent. loan since yesterday report $4,605,900.

Notes from Washington.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—The senate committee on transportation routes to the seaboard made a favorable report to-day on the application of Jas. P. Eades and his associates for relief.

The house committee on elections to-day agreed to report a bill appropriating $46,610 for paying the expenses of contestants and contestees for seats in the house, or an aggregate claim of $80,000.

All departments will be closed on Saturday—Washington's birthday.

The senate committee on finance has reported a bill amendatory of the charter of the Freedmen's bank. It authorizes the acceptance of the tendered resignation of the present commissioners, and devolves their duties upon the comptroller of the currency, with power to compound and compromise the debts and liabilities of the concern and to sell its property and wind up the concern. The comptroller is also directed to inquire into the management of the company, and to begin civil and criminal suits, if warranted, against trustees and others having had control. The secretary of the treasury is authorized to purchase the Freedmen's bank building for $250,000.

CONGRESSIONAL.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, Feb 18.

Morrill moved to reconsider the vote by which the house bill passed to authorize the issue of certificates of deposit in aid of refunding the public debt; agreed to.

Morrill then submitted an amendment providing that money received from them shall be applied to the payment of bonds bearing interest at the rate of not less than three per centum per annum, instead of 5-20 bonds only, which bear six per cent, as it first authorized; the amendment was agreed to and the bill passed.

After the morning business consideration was resumed of the bill to amend the internal revenue laws, and Matthews spoke in favor of his amendment offered last night to tax tea 10 cents per pound and coffee 2½ cents per pound.

The bill having been considered in committee of the whole, was reported to the senate, and Whyte submitted an amendment that the act take effect on the 1st of May instead of the 1st of April as proposed by the committee; agreed to—ayes 31, nays 30.

Grover moved to reconsider the vote, agreed to—ayes 35, nays 30.

Whyte renewed his amendment, and it was again agreed to—ayes 31, nays 32.

An amendment made in committee, providing that no tax shall be assessed or collected upon any insolvent bank, and amending section 3,415 of the revised statutes so as to exempt from taxation so much of deposits of provident institutions and savings banks, recognized as such by the laws of their respective states, as they have invested in securities of the United States, was agreed to without division.

Morrill submitted an amendment to strike out the whole clause repealing the tax on friction matches; agreed to—ayes 31, nays 27. So the law regarding the tax on matches remains as at present.

Other amendments made in committee of the whole were agreed to without division.

The bill was then read a third time and passed—ayes 45, nays 21.

House bill to promote knowledge of steam engineering and iron ship building among students of scientific schools or colleges, passed without discussion.

When senate bill to repeal the revised statutes which forbid any one who served under the confederacy from being appointed to the army, was reached, Cameron of Wisconsin objected and it was laid aside.

When house bill to fix the pay of letter carriers was reached, McCreery spoke in opposition to the bill. Letter carriers were well paid, and more money was spent here every winter in seeking office than the offices were worth. Pending discussion bill was laid aside.

The river and harbor appropriation bill received from the house was laid on the table until to-morrow.

Other appropriation bills passed by the house yesterday were referred to committee on appropriations.

House.

The speaker recognized Wood for reports from the committee on ways and means, and under previous order of the house, Cox of New York, made a special order, the consideration of the census bill. The point was overruled. Cox raised the question of consideration, and the house by a vote of yeas 91, nays 125, refused to consider reports from the committee on ways and means.

Hale then antagonized the census bill with a motion to go into committee of the whole on the legislation appropriation bill; defeated, yeas 117, nays 123, and Cox of New York, reported back the census bill with house amendments.

The house then went into committee of the whole on the bill. It was read by sections for amendment. The first amendment was that reported by the committee transferring the power of appointing supervisors from the secretary of the interior to governors.

Carlisle moved to amend the amendment so as to provide that if any governor shall fail to make a nomination of supervisor before April 1, 1880, the secretary of the interior shall make such appointments; agreed to.

Conger said that the amendment was to take away from national control and to give to state control the appointment of enumerators merely for political purposes. He moved to amend so as to strike out the clause for the appointment of supervisors by governors; rejected, yeas 101, nays 111.

After the presentation and rejection of other amendments the committee rose.

Upon reassembling the house went into committee of the whole on the legislative appropriation bill.

The pending amendment was one offered by Atkins, consolidating the sections relating to surveys.

Page submitted an amendment providing a system of public land surveys, to be continued under its present management, and striking out the clause which abolishes the offices of surveyors general.

Haskell, in supporting Page's amendment, read an extract from a letter from a member of the National Academy of Science stating that some of the strongest members of the academy were opposed to the transfer.

Sparks demanded the name of the author.

Haskell replied that it was a letter to Mr. Freeman, of Pennsylvania, and he did not feel authorized to state the name of the author.

Sparks insisted upon knowing the name of the author.

Haskell, amid much laughter and confusion, crossed the aisle and shook the letter in Sparks' face, to show him the signature.

Sparks—I don't want to see your secret, but I would not quote from a letter of which I would not give the author.

After order had been obtained, there was some discussion of Page's amendment, which was adopted; ayes 98, nays 70.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

The long spell of freezing weather has prevented plowing in Walla Walla valley this winter, though the area of fall grain is both large and of better appearance than it was last year.

Walla Walla Union: Fifty Chinamen have been employed by the railroad company to work on the cut for $25 a month. The Chinamen furnish their own food, the company paying the wages of one cook. Negotiations are in progress for the hire of 50 more Chinamen to be put on the same work at $20 per month.

Capt. Ellicott's coast survey party, which has been operating during the past season in and about North Skookum, Oyster and other bays near the head of the Sound, was disorganized last Saturday owing to the inclemency of the weather. It will be reorganized and commence work again in about six weeks.

COUR D'ALENE VALLEY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

This beautiful little valley nestles among the mountains in a way romantic enough to please the poets themselves. It is surrounded on the north, east and south by timbered mountains, while away to the northeast lies Cour d'Alene lake—a beautiful sheet of water, 5 miles wide and 60 miles long.

The soil of our valley is unsurpassed for depth and richness, the water cold and pure; the bunch grass alive with prairie chickens; the lake abounds with fish, and in the surrounding mountains bounds the graceful deer by scores, while occasionally a cadaverous looking coyote may be seen standing on a distant hillside, looking wistfully towards the frolicsome lambs that nip the tender grass in the vale below.

And if you will rise in time to see the sun come up, and look out over the valley of a bright spring morning, you will say with me that the sight is glorious. The dark mountains frowning sullenly in the distance, the gold crowned hill-tops, the shaded vales below, and the halo of glory that hangs just over the lake, make a picture that once seen, by a lover of nature, can never be forgotten.

Just in the center of our valley there stands a grand looking old butte, with a few scattering pine trees on its summit. This has been very appropriately named Central Butte.

The present lookout for this place is most flattering. Our people are usually of the more intelligent and industrious class. A M. E. Church is being built; a town site has been selected on Rock creek and christened Rockford, we have a good sawmill; will soon have a gristmill; and we fully expect the N. P. railroad to run directly through this valley. Then why should we not be happy?

I think of naught yet necessary to the completion of our happiness save perhaps the big, red-cheeked apples. However, by a prolonged stretch of the imagination we can see even these depending from the trees that are to be, so we fold our hands and say "we can wait."

There yet remains vacant land here, and if the Yakima jail-bird of bright colors should be liberated by that government, which has ever shown its great heart to be in sympathy with the noble red men—I say if said bird should be so set free and turn his stately strides this valley-wards there will be a good deal better chance here for venturesome land seekers next summer than there is now. To be brief As a people we are poor, unarmed and at the mercy of the savages. We have petitioned the governor of our territory for arms with which to defend ourselves, but he heedeth us not.

So, with the wish that his excellency may some day be pursued by thirteen painted heathen of the woods well mounted on stolen American horses, without gun or tomahawk (the governor I mean—not the reds), and be compelled to ride twenty-eight miles in two hours on a $10 Cayuse pony, with his hair floating in the breeze and poisoned arrows flying distressingly near him—and finally reach a place of safety a wiser and a better man—I subscribe myself, with just indignation (at the governor, not the editor),

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

CALIFORNIA.

Out on Bail.

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 18.—Henry A. Cauline, charged with the murder of Wm. G. English, and in whose case the jury disagreed, was to-day set at liberty on $10,000 bail, which he gave without any difficulty.

Flood.

News is at hand here of the complete flooding of Grand Island, in Colusa county, laying some 2,500 acres of wheat under water.

Chinese Leaving America.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 18.—Two ocean steamers bore away to day 350 Chinese. Eighty-five of them left by the Pacific Mail steamer City of New York for Honolulu and the remaining 265 leaving for China on the Occidental and Oriental Company's steamer Gaelic. The departing Celestials, whose destination is Honolulu, are under contract to labor on sugar plantations.

Recovery of Stolen Money.

News was brought by the last steamer from Hongkong that the authorities had released Lawrence Otis Hall, defaulting clerk of the London and San Francisco bank, who took passage from this city to that port some weeks ago with his ill gotten gains, and that there is no possibility that Hall can be brought back to this city to be tried for his crime. A civil suit, however, was instituted at Hongkong to recover from him as much as possible of the money stolen from the bank, and it is reported that a considerable portion of his peculations has been turned over to the bank's agent in that city. His total peculations from the bank amount to about thirty six thousand dollars.

Suicide in a Public Street.

At about a quarter to 8 this evening, two gentlemen, standing at the corner of Turk and Jones streets, heard the report of a pistol shot, and a heavy fall on the sidewalk near them. Running to the spot they found a man lying on his back, dead, with blood oozing from his mouth, and a pistol clutched in his right hand, lying on his breast. The body was taken to the morgue, where by papers found in the pockets, it was identified as that of Charles A. Kennedy, traveling agent for the firm of Charles Mowe & Co, grocers. Deceased was about 30 years of age. The cause of the act is unknown.

NEWSPAPERS AND NEWS.

The Relations of the Associated Press to Coast Newspapers—The Getting of News a Mere Matter of Expense.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—J. W. Simonton, manager of the New York Associated Press, before the committee investigating Jones' bill for postal telegraph, explained the workings of the Associated Press, and among other matters explained its workings on the Pacific coast. Replying to Senator Mitchell, Simonton said that in New York a single paper in the association could prevent an outside paper from getting the news, but the rule throughout the country was various. In the south there was practically no objections to newspapers getting news if they were willing to pay for it. In California there are two press associations which buy news east, one of which adds to it abundantly from other than Associated Press sources, and each of which controls its use by its own rules and regulations. In reply to Senator Teller, he said that there was not the least difficulty about supplying reports to any papers in Colorado which were willing to pay fairly for their use, and what it will cost to transmit it to them there. For papers in Oregon it is simply a question of expense. Any paper there can get Associated Press reports by paying for them, but it cannot get reports made up for and belonging to the California Press Association except by consent of its members. The Telegraph Company fixes certain rates for this class of service. These rates are open to all. The California Press Association simply has its news transmitted and pays these rates. Another California newspaper association does do that very thing, and anybody else may do it, and all on the same terms.

Mitchell—Who in Oregon determines what news from that section will come east?

Simonton—One newspaper there, which takes our reports, forwards what it supposes we need to the agent at San Francisco of the New York association. This agent sends of it what we instruct him to, either generally or specially, and we are entitled to call upon our Oregon connection for anything which we want in addition to what is sent in advance of such call. Similar arrangement exists all over the United States and Europe.

A THRIVING TOWN.

POMEROY, Columbia county, W. T., February 4, 1879.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

As your paper is acknowledged to be the leading newspaper of this portion of the Pacific coast, I thought perhaps a few facts from this new and thriving town might find a place in it. Pomeroy is situated in Columbia county twenty-five miles east of Dayton, the county seat of Columbia county, and fifty-five miles east of Walla Walla, and thirty-five miles west of Lewiston, Idaho. The town is built on a beautiful stream known as the Pataha, and is surrounded on either side by a fine agricultural country, twelve miles from the Blue mountains and seventeen miles from Snake river, with good roads leading to both. It is on the Walla Walla and Lewiston stage line which gives it the advantage of a daily mail from both east and west. The new military telegraph line to be constructed through from Walla Walla to Fort Lapwai at Mount Idaho, will run through Pomeroy. The government intends establishing an office at this place, which will give us a speedy and convenient communication with the outside world. The town is not, as yet, one year old, and can boast of 56 good and substantial buildings, one first-class gris and planing mill, with another good water power not yet utilized; one store of general merchandize, one first-class hotel, one drug store, one hardware store, and the best school house and school in the county, in charge of Prof. H. C. DeBow, of Hillsdale college, Michigan; one Catholic church and a prospective Episcopal church. We also have the inevitable saloons, two in number, and a first-class brewery known as the "Columbia brewery," run by the Scholl Bros., two live Germans. There is at present a fine opening for another good dry goods house. I would suggest that it would be well for some of the Oregon capitalists to turn their attention in this direction. We also have a Masonic and Odd Fellows' hall with a membership of about 25 each.

BRICK.

MILITARY NOTES.

The journey performed by Capt. Joel G. Trimble 1st cavalry, from Olympia, W. T., to Portland, on summons of recorder of court of inquiry, instituted by virtue of paragraph 4, Special Orders No. 112, series of 1878, from these headquarters, and return to Olympia, place of residence whilst on leave of absence, is authorized.

A board of officers will assemble at Fort Townsend, W. T., Monday, Feb. 24th inst., or as soon thereafter as practicable, for the purpose of appraising two horses, for which the post quartermaster is responsible, and which Lieut.-Col. Alexander Chambers, 21st infantry, desires to purchase. The following officers are detailed for the board: Capt. Evan Miles 21st infantry, Capt. Stephen P. Jocelyn, 21st infantry, 2d Lieut. Harry L. Bailey, 21st infantry.

JAMES WALTON,

Called and sworn testified as follows

Q. State your name residence and occupation. A. Name is James Walton, residence Salem, occupation insurance agent.

Q. Were you employed by the board of commissioners to audit the Modoc war claims as clerk. A. I was employed as clerk.

Q. I would ask if you recognize that book (showing witness a book) as the one the register was kept in. A. That is the identical book and that is my handwriting.

Q. Is that all your work? A. All my work except the signatures, which are the autographs of the gentlemen whose names are attached, the board.

Q. Did the board examine the accounts that were presented to be audited, or was that done by the clerk? A. Quincy A. Brooks, who was appointed to attend the sittings of the board, to furnish information and assistance in reference to the matter, presented vouchers of the quartermaster and commissary, and it was my business to see that they were certified to by the quartermaster and commissary and that they were correctly calculated and added up and to report accordingly to the board.

Q. Was it a part of your duty to ascertain the time that men were in the service? A. No. I had no chance to compute the time. I was obliged to take the reports of the proper officers, the accounts were all made out and certified to, and I had to take them.

Q. Right or wrong? A. I could not help it. I had no opportunity to find out personally from the various officers what time they served, I had no means of information except the vouchers.

Q. If a man commenced on the 10th day of December and was employed until the 15th of February did you go over that voucher and ascertain whether the number of days was correct, or take the statement? A. Do you mean see whether the number of days between the two dates was correct? Q. Yes, sir. A. I think I always ascertained that, it strikes me so.

Q. Was that your business, or Major Brooks'? A. Major Brooks was specially detailed for that purpose.

Q. Did you report to the board of auditors when you came on vouchers that seemed to be extravagantly high? A. Yes, sir; I occasionally disclosed those things to Dennison, who paid more attention to that than either Grover or Chadwick.

Q. Was Grover present when these accounts were audited? A. He came in perhaps three or four times.

Q. Was Chadwick present? A. He came in perhaps eight or ten times.

Q. Did they examine these matters as to correctness, or did they just audit what you presented? A. They looked over them, I don't know that Grover examined them. Chadwick examined them, but Dennison looked over them more than anybody else.

Q. Did they allow all claims presented? A. No, not quite all.

Q. Did they cut down any? any that were presented and allowed? A. Well, I submitted some things that seemed to be extravagant, and there was some conversation about them, but eventually I believe nothing was cut down, if there was anything—

Q. There is the book, you can see? A. Yes but few instances, mainly allowed, you can see here. There was some talk about this transportation being high. We had considerable explanation from Quincy A. Brooks about that, but it was finally allowed. And the telegraphing, we got a certificate from the operator, and when there was something seemed pretty high, Brooks would explain that it ought to be allowed. Sometimes I would find an account that was reasonable, and I would mark it "reasonable."

Q. State if Abraham & Bros' bill of September 20, 1873, for drugs and medicines for $632 was presented by you to the board for their information? A. It was.

Q. Did you call the attention of the board at the time to the extravagant charges contained in that bill? A. I did.

Q. And the board approved it? A. It was finally approved. But let me say in justice to them there was an additional certificate demanded from the surgeon general with the forces and they got it too.

Q. Was Major Quincy A. Brooks employed by the board? A. He was.

Q. What was his duty before the board? A. To attend the sittings of the board to furnish information as to claims, and assist generally in reference to claims.

Q. Is it not true that he acted as attorney for claimants rather than as agent for the state? A. Well, if by that is meant that his sympathies were decidedly with the claimants, I should say yes.

Q. When was it proposed to cut down or not allow extravagant claims didn't he oppose it? A. He generally furnished such information as would show that they ought not to be cut down, to show that the charges were reasonable.

Q. What information did he furnish? A. Well he would state the circumstances. Talking about teamsters he showed the season of the year, the bad state of the roads, the distance traveled, the difficulties of getting credit, etc. These things were all bought on doubtful credit, or supposed to be.

EAST SIDE RAILROAD MEETING.

ROCK POINT Marion Co., Feb. 15, 1879.

At a meeting of the citizens of Waldo Hills and vicinity, held at this place to-day, Geo. S. Downing, chairman, and James Aitken, secretary, the following proceedings were had:

Mr. G. W. Hunt read a communication from Mr. Pengra stating that he could not meet with them that day, but would do so one week from then. Mr. Hunt made a statement showing the present status of the eastside railroad movement.

Mr. John Downing offered the following resolutions embodying the views of the residents of that section of country in Marion county extending from Scio to Silverton, called the Waldo Hills, which were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, The proposed N. G. Railroad, from Springfield, through Brownsville, Lebanon and Scio, and thence to Salem, will not benefit a large section of country extending from Scio north to Silverton called the Waldo Hills, therefore,

Resolved, That we, the citizens of Waldo Hills and vicinity stand willing to aid and assist any contemplated road which would meet the views of this section; and any road not tapping the Waldo Hills on or near this line will not command our hearty support; and while we would support a road from Springfield to Salem, we would prefer a road running through or near Silverton to some point below the locks at Oregon City.

It was agreed to meet at the same place at 2 o'clock on next Saturday, to meet Mr. Pengra and others.

The following were appointed an executive committee: Messrs. G. W. Hunt, John Downing, and Geo. S. Downing.

JAMES AITKEN, Sec'y.

MILITARY PERSONALS.

From a Walla Walla exchange of the 8th the following military personals are collated:

Lieut. George S. Hoyle, 1st Cavalry, has gone to Fort Boise on court-martial duty.

Capt. S. P. Jocelyn, 21st Infantry, has been granted leave of absence for one year by the war department.

Capt. Chas. A. Dempsey, 2d Infantry, arrived here from Portland en route to his station at Fort Lapwai.

Col. John Green, 1st Cavalry, who is well and favorably known by most of our citizens, is now in command at Fort Boise.

Major J. B. Keefer, paymaster, left here last Thursday for Fort Boise, to act as member of a general court-martial ordered at that place.

Major W. M. Maynadier, paymaster, accompanied by Charles W. Frush, as clerk, left here last Tuesday to pay the troops at Fort Colville and Camp Coeur d'Alene.

Col. David Perry, 1st Cavalry, returned from Portland last Thursday. We are pleased to announce that the court of inquiry completely exonerated him from all blame in the White Bird affair.

The lieutenant colonel of the 18th Infantry, which regiment it is reported will relieve the 21st Infantry on this coast, is Col. H. M. Black, who is well known on this coast as the commander of the 6th California Volunteers.

Eight hundred and seventy-nine novels were published in England last year, and 1,500 new books in other classes.

The sledge in which Napoleon crossed the Alps, or rather that in which he rode from Martigus to Bourg St. Peirce, is still doing duty at Lausanne, Switzerland.

THE CHINESE RESTRICTION BILL

Fortunately The Oregonian is in a position in which it is not necessary for it to cater to the clamor of a part of the community for its endorsement or disapproval of any measure of public concern For the man who really works and who seeks to gain a position of independence by his own exertions and not by a war upon those whose industry and frugality have placed them ahead of him in the race of life we have the profoundest respect and he who digs the earth or fells the forest is as noble and entitled to every right—naturally morally and legally—which is enjoyed by him who is not compelled to labor day by day that he may have bread to eat A man's character and not his condition in life is what makes him respectable or contemptible We are always ready to yield support to every measure which has for its object the bettering of the condition of the people but prefer that the measure should look toward the amelioration of the ills that afflict our own race The real workingmen of the community deserve the fullest support and assistance from the public press in every well meant and wisely directed effort to improve their condition To befriend the laboring man or speak in his favor, does not involve the endorsement of every fellow who too lazy to work himself, goes round the country lecturing men upon their rights and making war upon the state of society Such men are no part of the great body of the workingmen of the country Real workingmen have no sympathy with them and the sooner all such characters are driven from their ranks booted out of their organizations the sooner will those on the outside whose sympathies are with the genuine laborers of the country, rally around the standard of equal rights for labor with capital We have never believed that the workingmen of this country endorse the wild and insurrectionary theories of Dennis Kearney Had he shown a wisdom equal to his energy he might have stood in the lead of the great movement which has culminated in the passage of the bill to restrict Chinese immigration to the United States But he is not in a position to claim any credit for the sentiment on the Pacific coast which has compelled the members from these states to urge and secure the passage of this measure Whether it be good or evil in its effects upon the country remains to be seen If it shall have the effect of keeping down the inflowing tide of Chinese immigration to the Pacific coast the workingmen will have reason to thank those who have secured its passage, for it is certain that the tendency of its operation will be to produce a higher price for such labor as the Chinese do But it must not be expected that when the edict, "John must go," is obeyed there will be any easy road to wealth, for the experience of all men everywhere shows that its accumulation must be by the exercise of energy, tact and industry. The absence of the Chinese will by no means be a panacea for all the ills that are now complained of, nor will it ever be so in this world that men will not be found who are dissatisfied with their surroundings and ready to complain because others have got ahead faster than they. They would not become independent if no Chinaman nor other immigrant should ever set foot on the soil of the country Their nature is to war with the conditions that exist and to be under whenever they try to correct the evils which they so loudly deplore.

But to revert to the subject before us the bill, we believe is a step well meant, though that it will have the effect to keep the Chinese out of the country is a result of which we are not so hopeful They are peculiarly a law evading people, and without the co operation of their government, it is hardly likely that the law in question can be fully enforced Should they choose to do so, the Mongolians can be quietly landed in British Columbia, or in any other country bordering on the United States, in as great numbers as the masters of vessels may choose to bring them, and then they can quietly step across the line and fill the country despite Mr Sargent's bill The co operation of other governments also, and the abrogation or material modification of existing treaties, it seems to us would have been much more likely to secure the object sought

DUNNELL'S HARBOR BILL

A bill is now pending in the lower house of congress which was introduced by Mr. Dunnell, which if passed will more clearly define the jurisdiction of the United States over all harbors and navigable waters. It provides that whenever the secretary of war is reliably informed, or has reason to believe, that in any harbor or navigable waters of the United States navigation is impeded or shoals, bars or other impediments to navigation have been created by reason of the improper extension of wharves, piers and other structures in such harbors or navigable waters under the authority of local laws, or by individuals without such authority or by depositing ballast slabs or any other material, or that the future usefulness of such harbors or navigable waters is imperiled by such structures or deposits to the injury of commerce, he shall cause a survey to be made by the engineers of the army, showing the nature of the obstructions, and a plat made thereof if such obstructions impede navigation, proper steps shall be taken for the removal of the same, that no bridge shall be built and extended across any navigable river until a plan in duplicate showing the location and situation thereof has been presented to the secretary of war and approved by him and that his approval, if given shall be certified on one of said plans, and that the duplicate thereof shall be retained and preserved in the war department, provided, that this act shall not be construed so as to give authority to erect such bridge without any act of congress It is made the duty of the secretary of war when he is reliably informed that in any harbor or navigable waters of the United States, navigation is about to be impeded by the improper extension of wharves piers or other structures or deposits aforesaid to give notice to the party or parties about to make such wharves piers or other structures of deposit that he will order an immediate survey of such harbor, and when such notice has been given it shall not be lawful for such party or parties to proceed in the erection of such wharves piers or other structures or to make such deposits, until such survey has been made

THE PENSION ACT

The politicians in congress were quite unanimous in support of the recent pension bill a fact very apparently attributable to a desire on their part to catch votes There is a large number of ex soldiers in the country and their power in elections was doubtless one influence which had its effect in securing for the bill the vote which it received Both parties voted for it as a political measure expecting the president would veto Had he done so there is no doubt that he would have been charged with hostility to the soldiers and the charges upon this would have been sounded from one end of the country to the other upon the stump and in the press The bill having passed both houses by considerable majorities the president did not care to assume the responsibility of vetoing it It is now a law and under its provision a very large amount some say $153 000,000 falls due to the soldiers of the country but there is not a dollar with which to settle these claims There is no money in the treasury or coming in to comply with the requirements of the measure and it is stated that nothing will be done under the law except to file claims until congress makes an appropriation Congress cannot make an appropriation until it provides the money and the money cannot be provided except through taxation It would be safe to wager that this congress will make no provision for paying the arrearages of pensions and that the bill so far as concerns the soldiers will remain a dead letter The latter may file their claims and if these should foot up $1 0 000 000 the law will be repealed or something to that effect

FOREIGN TRADE OF THE UNITED STATES

The official statistics of the foreign trade of the United States for the year 1878 have been completed and are now made public A summary is as follows

	Merchandise	Specie	Total
Imports	$431 ,03 1 8 5 811		$50 6 0 15
Exp domestic	722 ,8 151	0 561 590	,4 089 51
Exp foreign	13 0 263	303 819	21 ,19 06
Totals	$1 105 124 ,55	$5 04 5	$1 ,3 8 8

Excess of merchandise exports over imports .. $301 84 771

Excess of specie imports over exports 1 ,4 173

In other words the country sold abroad during the year domestic products to the value of $722 500 000 or very nearly two millions a day throughout the year The excess of exports over net imports of merchandise reaches the enormous sum of $304 000 000, which is an apparent balance of trade such as has never before been shown as to the trade of any country

Of Gen Bragg, the Wisconsin congressman who has lately made himself "known to fame" through his tilt with the southerners an exchange says "Gen Bragg is a little chap of unusual pluck and much more than the average amount of brains found in congressional circles He commanded a brigade in the army of the Potomac and was shot all to pieces by some of his confederate fellow congressmen in one of the numerous battles in front of Washington He is full of fight, and should his confederate fellow congressmen choose to go on with the dance he will undoubtedly give them a sufficient display of his mettle

Another gang of villains has came to grief They were Chicago parties who by the practice of counterfeiting the letterheads used by newspaper publishers, have been accustomed to procure passes from railroads and sell them to the ticket scalpers This double imposition against two such great and worthy institutions as newspapers and railroads, calls for the severest punishment known to the law

And now Zack Chandler is added to the list of "stalwarts" who will be on hand to make trouble for the Democrats in the next senate Ingalls Logan, Carpenter, Cameron, Conkling, and Pratt will be thorns in the sides of the southern brethren

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®

The Daily Oregonian.

WEDNESDAY MORNING FEB 19 1879

CITY.

A HISTORIC PRINTING PRESS.—Says the La Grande Gazette The press on which the Gazette is printed is a historical relic It was brought to the state as we think by T J Dryer about 1850 and the first number of THE OREGONIAN was printed on it Mr Dryer was the founder and for many years the proprietor of that sheet and during all that time it was printed on the present Gazette press When that paper was enlarged after passing into the hands of Mr Pittock this press was sold to a company of gentlemen in Vancouver and the Vancouver Register was printed on it It was afterwards sold to M H Abbott who printed a paper at Pendleton on it and afterward at the Dalles By him it was transferred to the Gazette Publishing Company and for nearly a year and a half the Gazette has issued from it It is still in good order though it has done nearly or quite 30 years work in Oregon

The Gazette is slightly in error Mr Dryer brought from San Francisco an old Ramage and some second hand material on which the first number of THE OREGONIAN was issued December 1850 The next year a new Washington press and these came from New York and the Ramage was sent to Olympia where the first paper on the Sound was issued from it—the Olympian The Washington press was displaced by a power press in 1862 and was sold to go to Walla Walla from whence it was taken to Idaho City We believe the first paper in Idaho the Boise News was printed on it. Where it is now we cannot say

DEAD AND ALIVE AGAIN.—Particulars of a very singular occurrence have just come to light. It appears that a Mrs Owens aged who lives about five or six miles southwest of this city was taken suddenly and violently ill several days ago and in a short time died to all appearances. The remains gave every indication that the vital spark had forever flown The friends and relatives were convinced that the lady was dead and preparations were accordingly made for the interment of the remains Saturday the body was dressed for burial and placed in a coffin The friends began to collect at the residence of the bereaved family. Suddenly a slight moan was heard to issue from the coffin in which the body had but recently been placed This very unexpected noise greatly startled the assembled neighbors and the people were about to rush from the room when the husband of the supposed deceased lady approached the coffin and was astonished to find the body moist and warm A closer examination disclosed the fact that the woman was breathing Restoratives were applied and the supposed dead came back to life and soon was able to sit up and converse It is needless to add that the father and other members of the family were overjoyed to have the wife and mother restored to them Singular as this circumstance may seem we are assured that it is true in every particular

A CRUEL HOAX.—Last evening the papers announced that Mme Farstelle would attempt the difficult feat of walking 20 miles in 44 hours at the house of Willamette Engine Co No 1 and as there was to be no entrance fee charged an immense concourse of people were attracted to the place to see the lady, as she was a favorite with the Portland public some years ago At half past 8 the Mme appeared in a walking costume and began her task and after she had walked a mile or so with her male escort the judges announced that she would take a short rest On reappearing she again started on her task, and as she was known to have had some talent as a song [illegible] there were repeated calls for her to sing. She finally consented but it was a failure, and the boys thought it was time to let the cat out of the bag, and began by taking off the head gear which disclosed to the throng present that the Mme was one of the boys gotten up for the occasion The most of the audience retired under the impression that they were the victims of a heartless joke and inwardly giggling to themselves refuse to acknowledge that they were there at all

IN THE MESHES.—Two well known or rather notorious bunko sharps McDonald and Bell, were arrested yesterday and committed to the city jail on complaint of an individual from Del Norte California who alleges that these parties robbed him of the sum of $460 in a bunko game in this city some weeks ago The person at the time of the alleged robbery notified the police of the affair However for want of sufficient proof no arrest was made at the time Thinking that the victim had left the city the bunko sharps hung around and yesterday were apprehended To day the defendants will have an examination in police court until which time the bonds have been fixed at $1 500 each. The prosecuting witness has been required to give bonds in the sum of $250

FROZEN TO DEATH.—Last Thursday morning the body of an unknown man was found in the wagon road to the Cascades near the nine-mile post evidently frozen to death His remains were brought to The Dalles by Edward Holland and a companion on horseback They also found two other men wandering about in the snow delirious from exposure The survivors were taken to the house of Mr Bill, near by and kindly cared for by that worthy and hospitable old German They were perfectly stupid when found roaming about, and had to be driven to the house more like dumb beasts than men One of them had in his delirium removed his boots and stockings, and the chances are that his feet will have to be amputated. The other is suffering less SUDDEN DEATH.—The little daughter of Mr and Mrs. W Brandt while at the breakfast table last Sunday morning was taken ill from which time she continued to grow worse, until the shadow of death hovered over her form, and her spirit took its flight at a quarter of six on the following evening to that unknown land from whose bourne no traveler returns. She was a sweet child of one and a half summers and the burden of sorrow falls severely heavy on the grief stricken parents, who have the deepest sympathy of the community in this their sad bereavement.

ANOTHER RUNAWAY.—Last evening about 10 o clock a horse with an express wagon attached, came dashing up Oak street The driver, who was in the wagon, had no control over the animal, as he had lost the lines which were dragging by the side of the horse Mr Weston the painter who was in the street at the time taking in the situation at the risk of his life, made for the horse and succeeded in mounting his back and stopping the runaway No injury was sustained but the occupant of the wagon was somewhat frightened until rescued from his perilous position.

BILLIARD TOURNAMENT.—The fourth match game of billiards came off last evening at the Billiard Palace Saloon Two games were played—one between Josh Davis and Henry Prang, and the other between Joseph Chartres and Nate Lane The score of the first game stood Davis, 150 Prang 124 Second game Joseph Chartres 150 Nate Lane 103. This evening games will be played between Wm Roach and Josh Davis, and Wm Rich and Joseph Chartres

BURGLARIZED.—Some time during Sunday night the residence of Mr Fred Bancroft, in East Portland was entered by burglars They succeeded in getting away with the shirt studs (attached to that garment which he had thrown on a chair at the side of the bed) and some articles of jewelry The house of a neighbor was also entered the same night (doubtless by the same parties and various articles taken

A O H.—On the 16th inst at a meeting of the state convention held in this city the following members were elected to fill vacancies for the unexpired term of office for 18 9 M J Gleason county delegate of Multnomah was elected state delegate of Oregon John Gorman vice president of division was chosen state treasurer

FROM ASTORIA.—The following dispatch was received from Messrs Trenchard & Upshur yesterday at 8 30 A M S S Idaho arrived here at 9 A M will leave for Portland at 11 A M cloudy and rainy light wind from southeast Later—4 P M comparatively little wind from east weather cloudy and rainy

INSTALLATION.—The installation of officers in the Columbia Rebekah Degree Lodge No 3 I O O F for the present year took place last evening in the Odd Fellows Temple Dr S E Josephi D D G M assisted by other members of the Grand Lodge of Oregon installed into their respective stations Mrs C A Moffett as N G Mrs Medora Hoffman V G Mrs Eliza A Wilcox treasurer J I Johnson secretary G B Henry O G C H Hoffman W Mrs J H Lyon I G Mrs A Smith C Mrs Emma Anlms L S N G Mrs Mary Hackeney I S N G Mrs Nellie Biehe R S V G Mrs Jane D Kellogg L S V G whereupon the members adjourned to A Insky C Hegele's where refreshments were served and some time spent in social intercourse

SENTENCED.—C M McCreary the pilot and opium thief was arraigned in circuit court yesterday for sentence He was sentenced to imprisonment in the penitentiary to the term of six years John Gately who was convicted of selling liquor without a license was sentenced to pay a fine of $50 and costs

VERDICT FOR DEFENDANT.—The case of Prof J H Brenner vs John Maguire manager and lessee of New Market Theater was tried in the state circuit court Monday The jury returned a verdict in favor of the defendant after a very short deliberation

STEAMER IDAHO.—The steamer Idaho arrived at Astoria yesterday at 9 30 A M She left for this port at an early hour in the afternoon and reached here this morning

This city is afflicted at present with a red headed peddler who is said to possess an unlimited amount of impudence He should get the "grand bounce"

We observe in a Pendleton exchange of the 30th ult, a paragraph to the effect that Mr Lehman Blum, well known in this city was confined to his room by sickness.

The four prisoners now under indictment for "practicing" the bunko business—Thos Burch Henry Harris L Lakin and Harry Jacobs—will be arraigned in the circuit court this morning for plea

At present the public schools of the city are in a very prosperous condition There are over 1,800 pupils now in constant attendance at the public schools, an increase of 125 over the attendance one year ago, and 400 over the attendance two years ago.

THE DISTRICT FAIR AGAIN.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

In canvassing among the citizens of Portland for the purpose of raising money to buy and improve grounds for a fair a good many as far as we have canvassed, would prefer that it should be built on the west side of the river and as it necessary to have concert of action in order to accomplish this undertaking it is to be hoped we can come to some fair understanding about the best location, then all work together and it will be an assured success At a meeting of the board of managers of the Northwestern Industrial Association, held on February 12th the secretary was instructed to make this proposition to the citizens of Portland at least to those that think the piece of ground the society talks of buying is not the proper place that they, the citizens of Portland—those who are interested in starting a fair near Portland—meet together and appoint a committee who, in conjunction with a committee of said society be instructed to make a thorough examination of different grounds on both sides of the river and report thereon to the society already organized, or if necessary to a new organization. The present society is willing if it be deemed necessary in order to get a fair started, to even disband if the people of Portland will only take hold of this thing and put it through

The benefits to be derived from a fair near Portland have been discussed, and is understood by all Now if we can only come to some clear understanding in regard to the location there certainly ought not be any trouble to raise the necessary means to buy the land and improve the same

AMUSEMENTS.

The performance of the Octoroon at New Market Theatre last night merited a much larger audience than assembled to witness it To night by special request, A Woman of the People will be on the boards This piece deals with phases of life which all can understand and appreciate and though the scene is laid in Paris, the lover of Democratic principles is not affected by an imposing profusion of long-named nobility which in modern plays generally are by far too numerous to suit the American idea. The situations are true to life, varied and interesting the dialogue is easy and does not linger on trivial and dull detail and the denouement is happy without being soft leaving just enough to the imagination or ground for pleasing hope The piece through out enlists the kindliest sentiments. No person who can sympathize with human woe can look upon the sorrow of Magdaline as portrayed by Miss Adams without pangs of honorable sympathy This will be the last production of the piece

THE DANICHEFFS.—This great Russian play will be positively produced to morrow evening The play will be superbly mounted and ought to draw a crowded house The next novelty to go in rehearsal is Gilbert's fairy comedy The Palace of Truth On Friday night Miss Adams will take a benefit when a most attractive bill will be presented

SNOW AT THE DALLES.

The Inland Empire of the 15th says Last Monday about dark it began to snow and the storm continued without cessation until 4 o clock on Tuesday afternoon the entire depth being about 16 inches At no point above or below here does the storm appear to have been so violent, for at Wallula there was a piercing cold east wind all the time and only three inches of snow fell there in the same period that 14 inches fell here. The cars made a trip to Celilo that day and brought in nearly all the workmen The roof of Moody's warehouse next door to Kinnersly's drug store was crushed in by the weight of snow as was also the awning of McFarland & French's store on Washington street We may expect to hear of great suffering among the cattle of this county which have so far done well during the winter which has nearly spent its violence The loss among sheep has already been heavy, except in cases of those flocks whose owners have prudently housed them up from the storms

As we go to press there is an average depth of inches of snow on the ground and it is still falling, Rendered careless by repeated mild winters our stock growers have neglected to put up hay and grain for stall feeding in weather like this and now comes hard times knocking at the door of more than one comfortable home The sheep are dying off by thousands for want of feed the cattle can stand it perhaps for a few days longer and the horses will dig through the snow for grass But unless we have a Chinook wind before Tuesday morning the snow storm will cost Wasco county more damage than two Indian wars like that of last summer

THE RECENT GREAT FRENCH DUEL

[Mark Twain in the February Atlantic]

Much as the modern French duel is ridiculed by certain smart people it is in reality one of the most dangerous institutions of our day Since it is always fought in the open air the combatants are nearly always sure to catch cold M Paul de Cassagnac the most inveterate of the French duelists has suffered so often in this way that he is at last a confirmed invalid and the best physician in Paris has expressed the opinion that if he goes on dueling for fifteen or twenty years more—unless he forms the habit of fighting in a comfortable room where damps and drafts cannot intrude—he will eventually endanger his life This ought to moderate the talk of those people who are so stubborn in maintaining that the French duel is the most health giving of recreations because of the open air exercise it affords And it ought also to moderate that foolish talk about French duelists and so called hated monarchs being the only people who are immortal

But it is time to get at my subject As soon as I heard of the great fiery outbreak between M Gambetta and M Fourtou in the French assembly I knew that trouble must follow I knew it because a long friendship with M Gambetta had revealed to me the desperate and implacable nature of the man Vast as are his physical proportions I knew that the thirst for revenge would penetrate to the remotest frontiers of his person

I did not wait for him to call on me but went at once to him As I expected I found the brave fellow steeped in a profound French calm I say French calm because French calmness and English calmness have points of difference He was moving swiftly back and forth among the debris of his furniture now and then staving chance fragments of it across the room with his foot grinding a constant grist of curses through his set teeth and halting every little while to deposit another handful of his hair on the pile which he had been building of it on the table

He threw his arms around my neck bent me over his stomach to his breast kissed me on both cheeks hugged me four or five times and then placed me in his own arm chair As soon as I had got well again we began business at once

I said I supposed he would wish me to act as his second and he said Of course I said I must be allowed to act under a French name so that I might be shielded from obloquy in my country in case of fatal results He winced here probably at the suggestion that dueling was not regarded with respect in America However he agreed to my requirement This accounts for the fact that in all the newspaper reports M Gambetta's second was apparently a Frenchman

First we drew up my principal's will I insisted upon this and stuck to my point I said I had never heard of a man in his right mind going out to fight a duel without first making his will He said he had never heard of a man in his right mind doing anything of the kind When he had finished the will he wished to proceed to a choice of his last words He wanted to know how the following words, as a dying exclamation, struck me

I die for my God for my country for freedom of speech for progress and the universal brotherhood of man!

I objected that this would require too lingering a death it was a good speech for a consumptive but not suited to the exigencies of the field of honor We wrangled over a good many ante-mortem outbursts but I finally got him to cut his obituary down to this, which he copied into his memorandum book purposing to get it by heart

"I DIE THAT FRANCE MAY LIVE"

I said that this remark seemed to lack relevancy but he said relevancy was a matter of no consequence in last words—what you wanted was thrill

The next thing in order was the choice of weapons My principal said he was not feeling well and would leave that and the other details of the proposed meeting to me. Therefore I wrote the following note and carried it to M Fourtou's friend

SIR M. Gambetta accepts M Fourtou's challenge and authorizes me to propose Plessis Piquet as the place of meeting to morrow morning at daybreak as the time and axes as the weapons. I am sir with great respect. MARK TWAIN

M Fourtou's friend read this note and shuddered Then he turned to me and said with a suggestion of severity in his tone

Have you considered sir, what would be the inevitable result of such a meeting as this?

Well for instance what would it be?

Bloodshed!

That's about the size of it I said Now if it is a fair question what was your side proposing to shed?

I had him there He saw he had made a blunder, so he hastened to explain it away He said he had spoken jestingly Then he added that he and his principal would enjoy axes, and indeed prefer them but such weapons were barred by the French code and so I must change my proposal

I walked the floor turning the thing over in my mind and finally it occurred to me that Gatling guns at fifteen paces would be a likely way to get a verdict on the field of honor So I framed this idea into a proposition

But it was not accepted The code was in the way again I proposed rifles then double barreled shotguns, then Colt's navy revolvers These being all rejected I reflected a while and sarcastically suggested brickbats at three quarters of a mile I always hate to fool away a humorous thing on a person who has no perception of humor and it filled me with bitterness when this man went soberly away to submit the last proposition to his principal

He came back presently and said his principal was charmed with the idea of brickbats at three quarters of a mile but must decline on account of the danger to disinterested parties passing between Then I said

Well I am at the end of my string now Perhaps you would be good enough to suggest a weapon? Perhaps you have even had one in your mind all the time?

His countenance brightened, and he said with alacrity

Oh without doubt monsieur!

So he fell to hunting in his pockets—pocket after pocket and he had plenty of them—muttering all the while, Now, what could I have done with them?

At last he was successful He fished out of his vest pocket a couple of little things which I carried to the light and discovered to be pistols They were single-barreled and silver mounted and very dainty and pretty I was not able to speak for emotion I silently hung one of them on my watch chain and returned the other My companion in crime now unrolled a postage stamp containing several cartridges and gave me one of them I asked if he meant to signify by this that our men were to be allowed but one shot apiece He replied that the French code permitted no more I then begged him to go on and suggest a distance for my mind was growing weak and confused under the strain which had been put upon it He named sixty five yards I nearly lost my patience I said

Sixty five yards with these instruments? Popguns would be deadlier at fifty Consider my friend you and I are banded together to destroy life not make it eternal

But with all my persuasion all my arguments I was only able to get him to reduce the distance to thirty five yards and even this concession he made with reluctance and said with a sigh

I wash my hands of this slaughter on your head be it

There was nothing for me but to go home to my old lion heart and tell my humiliating story When I entered M Gambetta was laying his stock of hair upon the altar He sprang toward me exclaiming

You have made the fatal arrangements—I see it in your eye

I have

His face paled a trifle and he leaned upon the table for support He breathed thick and heavily for a moment or two so tumultuous were his feelings then he hoarsely whispered

The weapon the weapon Quick What is the weapon?

This and I displayed that silver mounted thing He caught but one glimpse of it then swooned ponderously to the floor

When he came to he said mournfully

The unnatural calm to which I have subjected myself has told upon my nerves But away with weakness I will confront my fate like a man and a Frenchman

He rose to his feet and assumed an attitude which for sublimity has never been approached by man and has seldom been surpassed by statues Then he said in his deep bass tones

Behold I am calm I am ready reveal to me the distance.

Thirty five yards

I could not lift him up of course but I rolled him over and poured water down his back He presently came to and said

Thirty five yards—without rest? But why ask? Since murder was that man's intention why should he palter with small details But mark you one thing in my fall the world shall see how the chivalry of France meets death

After a long silence he asked

Was nothing said about that man's family standing up with him as an offset to my bulk? But no matter I would not stoop to make such a suggestion If he is not noble enough to suggest it himself he is welcome to the advantage which no honorable man would take

He now sank into a sort of reflection which lasted some minutes after which he broke silence with

The hour—what is the hour fixed for the collision?

Dawn to morrow

He seemed greatly surprised and immediately said

Insanity I never heard of such a thing Nobody is abroad at such an hour

That is the reason I named it Do you mean to say you want an audience

It is no time to bandy words I am astonished that M Fourtou should ever have agreed to so strange an innovation Go at once and require a later hour

I ran down stairs threw open the door and almost plunged into the arms of M Fourtou's second He said

I have the honor to say that my principal strenuously objects to the hour chosen and begs that you will consent to change it to half past 9

Any courtesy sir which it is in our power to extend is at the service of your excellent principal We agree to the proposed change of time

I beg you to accept the thanks of my client Then he turned to a person behind him and said You hear M Noir the hour is altered to half past 9 Whereupon M Noir bowed expressed his thanks and went away My accomplice continued

If agreeable to you your chief surgeons and ours shall proceed to the field in the same carriage as is customary

It is entirely agreeable to me and I am obliged to you for mentioning the surgeons for I am afraid I should not have thought of them How many shall I want I suppose two or three will be enough?

Two is the customary number for each party I refer to chief surgeons but considering the exalted positions occupied by our clients it will be well and decorous that each of us appoint several consulting surgeons from among the highest in the profession These will come in their own private carriages Have you engaged a hearse?

Bless my stupidity I never thought of it I will attend to it right away I must seem very ignorant to you but you must try to overlook that because I never had any experience of such a swell duel as this before I have had a good deal to do with duels on the Pacific coast but I see now that they were crude affairs A hearse—sho! we used to leave the elected lying around loose and let anybody cord them up and cart them off that wanted to Have you anything further to suggest?

Nothing except that the head undertakers shall ride together as is usual The subordinates and mutes will go on foot as is also usual I will see you at 8 o'clock in the morning and we will then arrange the order of the procession I have the honor to bid you a good day

I returned to my client who said Very well at what hour is the engagement to begin?

Half past 9

Very good indeed Have you sent the fact to the newspapers?

Sir! If after our long and intimate friendship you can for a moment deem me capable of so base a treachery—!

Tut tut! What words are these my dear friend? Have I wounded you? Ah, forgive me I am overloading you with labor Therefore go on with the other details and drop this one from your list. The bloody minded Fourtou will be sure to attend to it Or I myself—yes, to make it certain, I will drop a note to my journalistic friend M Noir—

Oh come to think you may save yourself the trouble, that other second has informed M Noir

H m! I might have known it It is just like that Fourtou who always wants to make a display

At half past 9 in the morning the procession approached the field of Plessis Piquet in the following order First came our carriage—nobody in it but M Gambetta and myself then a carriage containing M Fourtou and his second then a carriage containing two poet-orators who did not believe in God and these had MS funeral orations projecting from their breast pockets then a carriage containing the head surgeons and their cases of instruments then eight private carriages containing consulting surgeons then a hack containing the coroner then the two hearses then a carriage containing the head undertakers then a train of assistants and mutes on foot and after these came plodding through the fog a long procession of camp followers police and citizens generally It was a noble turnout and would have made a fine display if we had had thinner weather

There was no conversation I spoke several times to my principal but I judge he was not aware of it for he always referred to his note book and muttered absently I die that France may live

Arrived on the field my fellow second and I paced off the thirty-five yards and then drew lots for choice of position This latter was but an ornamental ceremony for all choices were alike in such weather These preliminaries being ended I went to my principal and asked him if he was ready He spread himself out to his full width and said in a stern voice, Ready Let the batteries be charged

The loading was done in the presence of duly constituted witnesses We considered it best to perform this delicate service with the assistance of a lantern on account of the state of the weather We now placed our men

At this point the police noticed that the public had massed themselves together on the right and left of the field they therefore begged a delay while they should put these poor people in a place of safety The request was granted

The police having ordered the two multitudes to take positions behind the duelists we were once more ready The weather growing still more opaque it was agreed between myself and the other second that before giving the fatal signal we should each deliver a loud whoop to enable the combatants to ascertain each other's whereabouts

I now returned to my principal and was distressed to observe that he had lost a good deal of spirit I tried my best to hearten him I said Indeed sir things are not so bad as they seem Considering the character of the weapons the limited number of shots allowed the generous distance the impenetrable solidity of the fog and the added fact that one of the combatants is one eyed and the other cross eyed and near sighted it seems to me that this conflict need not necessarily be fatal There are chances that both of you may survive Therefore cheer up do not be down hearted

This speech had so good an effect that my principal immediately stretched forth his hand and said I am myself again give me the weapon

I laid it all lonely and forlorn in the center of the vast solitude of his palm He gazed at it and shuddered And still mournfully contemplating it he murmured in a broken voice

Alas it is not death I dread but mutilation

I heartened him once more and with such success that he presently said Let the tragedy begin Stand at my back do not desert me in this solemn hour my friend

I gave my promise I now assisted him to point his pistol toward the spot where I judged his adversary to be standing and cautioned him to listen well and further guide himself by my fellow second's whoop Then I propped myself against M Gambetta's back and raised a rousing Whoop ee This was answered from out the far distance of the fog and I immediately shouted

One—two—three—fire!

Two little sounds like spit! spit! broke upon my ear and in the same instant I was crushed to the earth under a mountain of flesh Buried as I was I was able to catch a faint accent from above to this effect

I die for ... for ... perdition take it what is it I die for ... oh yes—FRANCE I die that France may live

The surgeons swarmed around with their probes in their hands and applied their microscopes to the whole area of M Gambetta's person with the happy result of finding nothing in the nature of a wound Then a scene ensued which was in every way gratifying and inspiriting

The two gladiators fell upon each other's necks with floods of proud and happy tears that other second embraced me the surgeons the orators the undertakers, the police everybody embraced everybody congratulated everybody cried and the whole atmosphere was filled with praise and with joy unspeakable

It seemed to me then that I would rather be the hero of a French duel than a crowned and sceptred monarch

When the commotion had somewhat subsided the body of surgeons held a consultation and after a good deal of debate decided that with proper care and nursing there was reason to believe that I would survive my injuries My internal hurts were deemed the most serious since it was apparent that a broken rib had penetrated my left lung and that many of my organs had been pressed out so far to one side or the other of where they belong that it was doubtful if they would ever learn to perform their functions in such remote and unaccustomed localities They then set my left arm in two places pulled my right hip into its socket again and re-elevated my nose I was an object of great interest and even admiration and many sincere and warm hearted persons had themselves introduced to me and said they were proud to know the only man who had been hurt in a French duel in forty years

I was placed in an ambulance at the very head of the procession and thus with gratifying éclat I was marched into Paris the most conspicuous figure in that great spectacle and deposited at the hospital

The cross of the Legion of Honor has been conferred upon me However few escape that distinction

Such is the true version of the most memorable private conflict of the age My recovery [illegible] but there are hopes I am able to [illegible] but there is no knowing when I will be able to write

I have no complaints to make against any one I acted for myself and I can stand the consequences Without boasting I think I may say I am not afraid to stand before a modern French duelist but I will never consent to stand behind one again

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN.

His Wonderful Success

IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL

Chronic and Difficult Diseases.

He has astonished the People of this Coast by his skillful Operations.

HE HAS TAUGHT IN HIS

public and private lectures the true principles of health and life to both male and female. He has also warned them against habits that would be likely to produce disease in plain and comprehensive language. But where he has found them crushed and broken down by disease mentally and physically he has restored them to health and happiness for it is well understood that without health there can be no happiness.

has made a specialty in the treatment of the following diseases Catarrh Bronchitis and all diseases of the throat and chest by an entirely new system only known to himself Diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary Organs including Spermatorrhea Seminal Weakness or premature loss of Manhood In the treatment of these diseases he has made a world wide reputation by his astonishing success not only on this Coast but throughout the whole United States Diseases of the stomach bowels liver and kidneys as well as all diseases of the blood and skin he has become master of and never fails to give relief at once and permanently cures the case if he is applied to in time

THE DOCTOR HAS GIVEN SPECIAL LECTURES

to ladies only for years and is perfectly familiar with a female complaint and understands their delicate and refined organization as well as the proper remedies which should be used to allay the suffering and restore them to perfect health

THE DOCTOR HAS THIS ADVANTAGE

over most physicians—he can tell the patients disease the moment he comes in contact with them without any aid from the individual This accounts in part for his great professional success

All surgical operations can be performed by his skillful hand and the patient need not fear the result.

will send to those living at a distance and who cannot well visit his office a list of Printed Questions and by the answers when filled out he can tell the disease as well as the proper treatment almost as well as seeing the patient personally and will forward the proper medicines or instruments to any part of the country with full instructions and advice Each letter requiring advice or list of questions must contain two postage stamps

Everything strictly confidential and honorable.

THE DOCTOR

has studied in the best Medical Schools in Europe and three years in the Jefferson Medical College at Philadelphia as there the ... of the Medical men of the Medical faculty in this State can testify

CAUTION

Persons coming to Portland, requiring medical treatment of the proper kind who desire to consult with me will please beware of persons who may try to coax them away [illegible] called Doctors [illegible]
